GENERAL NEWS OF INDUSTRIES

The statement of the business of the Reading Railroad company for the month of July shows: Gross receipts, $1,779.014.03; gross expenses, $986,-000.68, leaving a profit in operating of $798,013.35; fiet receipts from other sources, $60,179.47, making the profit for the month $853,192.82. From this, however, the following deductions are made: Equipment payments, $118,-579.81; terminal trackage, $50,000; one-twelfth of current year's fixed charges (estimated), $705 000, making total charges of $878,579,71 and leaving a deficit for the month of $20,386.89. For the corresponding period of last year the deficit was $61,592.15. The deficit for the current year to date is $1,216,650.92, an increase of $133,-907.71 as compared with the 007.71 as compared with the same period in 1893. The Philadelphia Inquirer quotes the "general superintendent of one of the biggest of the producing companies" as saying: "The anthracite coal trade is in an exceedingly critical condition. It looks as though the trade would fall to pieces owing to the great overproduc-tion during the months of June and July. The stocks are so large and demand is so light that nothing short of almost total restriction can save the situation. The soft coal strike im-proved the demand at the beginning of June, but the production has been entirely disproportionate to the wants of the trade since. Stocks at the several shipping points are enormous and dealers are stocked up. At Chicago and other western points we have a supply which we fear is greatly in exbecause we must reach the west while navigation is open. Western demand is entirely for domestic purposes, and the farmers who formerly burned anthracite now burn wood. Many burn twisted hay in stoves espe-cially constructed for that purpose. Fully 80 per cent. of the anthracite mined is for demestic use, and hard times seriously affect the trade. Peo-ple use one stove instead of two and sift the ashes. This phase is a very serious one and it is being felt. No immediate encouragement is to be obtained from the operation of the new tariff act, even though findustries start up, for soft coal is used for manufacturing purposes. Of course, if money should become plentiful, more coal will be used in the households, and we will benefit later on. So far this month our collieries have not worked more than sixty hours, and it will not be possible to do any better during September. Should there be any attempt to operate extensively prices will break and the trade will be in a chaotic state, and there is no knowing where state, and there is no knowing where the end will be. Mind you, I am not saying that this will happen, but it looks very critical. We are hopeful that all the producers will see the absortute necessity for restriction, and then matters may right themselves."

The Atlantic Coast line's special, which left Jacksonville Monday with Florida Knights of Pythias, at 4 30 p. m., Eastern time, and arrived in Washington at 8 09 s. m. yesterday, made the ran of 780 miles, after deducting stoppages, in 880 minutes, an average speed for the entire distance of 55; miles per hour. The quickest time was made on the Northeastern road from Charleston to Florence, a distance of 96 miles, in 93 minutes.

MINOR INDUSTRIAL NOTES;

The Enterprise Hosiery company, of Hollidaysburg, resumed operations Mon-day after nine months' idleness.

The work of grading for Van Wickle's new railroad is about completed, and the laying of the tracks will begin today.

The Valentine Iron company, at Belle-fonte, started their furnaces Monday after several months' idleness. Employment has been given again to a large number of Coxe Bros. & Co. have at last succeeded in taking the body of water from No. 2 slope. Work is progressing rapidly toward putting it in shape for coal mining. The manways and mule way are all re-

Since the blunt in the coal trade as high as twenty-five and thirty cars have been condemned daily at some of the South Side collieries, near Hazleton. In order to prepare this coal in a manner to suit the dull market it has been necessary to put it through the breakers a second time.

Railway officials in the east are very much interested in the anullment proceedings brought by the attorney-general of Illinois against the Pullman company, and are awaiting the outcome with much concern. The opinion seems to be generally indulged in that the Pullman charter will be revoked. The introduction of the trolley railways everywhere, superseding horse power, has already very materially increased the consumption of the small steam sizes of Anthracite, and, while there is a plentiful supply of pea, buckwheat and rice coal at present, this branch of the coal trade is growing rapidly.

One good evidence of business' upward tendency is the recent increase in good, live industrial news. For weeks it has been duller than a cemetary in the anthracite coal trade—no news, no new activities, nothing worthy of space in a newspaper. The Thisune gladly halls this sure sign of a revival.

For first six months of this year the re-ceipts of bituminous coal at San Francisco were as follows: From Great Britain, 32,-271 tons; from British Columbia, 250,343 tons: from Japan, 5,847 tons: from Austra-lia, 45,270 tons: from China, 2,500 tons, making a total of 336,231 tons, against 356,126 tons a year ago. There were 34,-645 tons of authracite from Wales.

It is a good thing that the government has at last decided to use American coal on American vessels. Heretefore, on the Pacific, British Columbia coal has been given a decided preference, and it has appeared impossible to convince the naval authorities that any coal mined on this side of the international boundary was as good for steaming purposes as that from the other side.

Joseph Whitehouse, the assistant outside foreman at the Reading Coal and Iron company's Shenandoah City colliery, who is charged with collecting wages from the company on fictitious pay rolls, and who disappeared last Monday, has been brought to Shenandoah from Trenton. N. J. After a hearing before Justice Williams he was committed to jail in default of bail. There are upward of forty distinct charges against him.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad company, which is in need of passanger cars, recent-ly asked for bids for twenty-five coaches. ly asked for bids for twenty-five coaches. Several car building companies presented estimates, but the company found that it could build more satisfactory cars at its South Easton shops and accordingly the entire order has been placed there. This insures steady work and full time to over 150 of the shop hands. It is possible that the force will be increased.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Stocks and Bonds. New York, Aug. 28.—Stocks ruled lower today. The decline was the result of real-zation by holders who were looking for a bulge to follow the ending of tariff uncer-tainty. Buyers were not numerous enough to absorb the offerings and a lower range of quotations naturally followed. July statements of the Reading and Pennsylvania, while satisfactory to a certain de-gree, failed to check the decline, which was equal to %al% per cent in the usually active railway issues.

In the Industrials, Distillers broke 1½ to 18% on the failure of the company to ob-tain the $5,000,000 required to release the distilled spirits controlled by the concern. subsequently there was a rally to 18% and the stock closed at 19%, a loss of % for the day. American Sugar ranged from 111 to 11234, and closed at the lowest point of the day. The net losses for the day were 134

THE COLORED HANDKERCHIEF.

It Is Still In Evidence, and Stationery L Now Rainbow Hued.

Colored handkerchiefs hold their own in popular favor, although there are certain prejudiced minds who consider that these articles belong in the list of those which should always be pure white, a list which includes muslin underwear, nightdresses, linen shirts, collars and cuffs, bedding and table linen. The conservative class is in the minority, however, and some of the tinted handkerchiefs are really dainty and pretty enough to convert the most rigid conventionalist. low are scalloped and embroidered with white. Others have a white middle, with broad hemstitched colored border, and the name is written across the corner and embroidered in silk or linen to match. In pure white handkerchiefs there is an infinite variety in sheer linen, with wide or narrow hemstitched borders, worked edges, lace frills and fine insertion. Those surrounded with delicate valenciennes and embroidered with white linen floss are almost the prettiest of any shown, although there are beautiful ones, made of pineapple cloth and worked elaborately with silk, that look like bits of frostwork.

The fancy for color has gone further than handkerchiefs, unfortunately, and has noticeably affected stationery, which may be seen in various strong tones of tan, blue, green and brick red. It is ex- CUTICURA works wonders, tremely unpleasant to look at and requires only the addition of some sort of powerful scent to be in thoroughly consistent bad

Among the parasols there in nothing particularly new. The straight handle terminated by a ball is almost universal this season, and the canopy top has gone quite out, but the chiffon and lace puffs and ruffles of several years past are still employed and are very delicate and light. Pure white and black and white are much seen, as also are sun umbrellas of changeable and fine checked silk. In more expensive goods there are lovely parasols of white satin, in which are set several rows of white lace insertion, diminishing in width as they approach the center. Others have a heavy fell of lace about the edge, headed by a puffing, the fullness of which is gathered over the ribs.

A PRETTY PARIS GOWN.

It Is of White Lawn and Green Velvet. French and Yankee Fashions,

We are fond of affirming in a dissatisfied manner that European fashion papers and fashion writers are superior to those in than other soaps. America, as is everything else abroad, according to the critics. Their pictures are certainly better and their articles are well expressed, but it is astonishing to how large an extent their professedly original text is made up of recommendations of particular dressmakers, hairdressers, perfumers and cosmetic manufacturers. If a woman writes to a reputable American publication for advice concerning her com-

A VELVET AND LAWN COMBINATION. plexion or hair, she is given several bits of practical advice, with perhaps a harmless prescription tacked on that she can have made up at any chemist's shop. On the contrary, the correspondents' column of a French fashion paper is a mere string of addresses of business firms whose merchandise is recommended by the person having charge of that department of the journal over his signature. The French are a thrifty nation, and it may be reckoned that a comfortable income is netted from this sort of journalism, which cuts both ways. It is a very good sort of scheme from a financial point of view, but the American public is better served, for our journalists are paid at only one point on the route and have no temptation to fill up their allotted space with advertisements of particular articles. After all, it is a great thing to be an American—we all feel it even when we are foolish enough not to admit it-and it is best of all to be an Amerlean woman, for she has the advantage of living from infancy in an atmosphere of mental freedom such as the women of no other nation enjoy. No amount of later experience counteracts the early influence of prejudice and narrow views, and American women can count upon themselves as their best guides in spite of the superior educational advantages of their European sisters. But we have wandered away from fashions, which purport to be our main object. We still look to Paris for them, and the heart of Paris is the stage. From that standard authority is derived the costume of which a sketch is given. The skirt of white lawn is trimmed with bands of em-broidered insection and an embroidered flounce. The bodice is of malchite green velvet, with a short, full basque. It has a full vest of white silk muslin and velvet revers covered with guipure. The sleeves reach to the elbow, and a black satin girdle encircles the waist. JUDIC CHOLLET.
